

Pressing On

The State of Local Journalism & Why It Matters

with columnist

Andrew Waite
of The Daily Gazette

Thursday, April 6, 2023

Sponsored by the Unitarian Universalist Society of Schenectady Women's Alliance

Join us for a LUNCHEON at 12 noon, followed by Andrew's talk at 1 pm
We will enjoy a BUFFET of delicious hot and cold items at the

Turf Tavern, 40 Mohawk Ave, Scotia, for only $20

Please RSVP to Patti Foley-Hess at daytimewomensalliance@gmail.com
by March 29.

Whether it's a nearly meaningless election this month in the village of Fort Johnson, the possibility that the owner in the 2018 Schoharie limo crash that killed 20 people may face little jail time, or the disagreements between BLM activists and the Saratoga City Council over police reform, Andrew Waite has opinions — and he isn't afraid to share them with us in his "Weighing In" column in The Daily Gazette. On April 6, he will delve into the challenges and opportunities ahead for local journalists, and share why he remains optimistic about the future of local news organizations. An Albany native, Andrew began his career on the west coast before returning to the Capital Region as a reporter and columnist at the Gazette starting in 2021. He lives in Albany with his wife and two children.

Hooray! The Women's Alliance lunches are back!
Come connect and reconnect with friends old and new.

All genders welcome!

Please RSVP at daytimewomensalliance@gmail.com
by March 29.

